

vehicles described herein. For example, Sections 1-3 refer to rebate vehicles (e.g., coupons and in-store specials) in general. As another example, Section 4 states that one embodiment uses a rebate vehicle downloaded from Web server software 202, and also states that in one embodiment the rebate amounts for the rebate vehicles are contained within the scanned bar codes, which clearly encompasses related-art FSIs. In addition, the figures, in general, do not limit their descriptions to coupons and in-store specials downloaded and printed from a Web server, and hence encompass related-art FSIs. Thus, those having ordinary skill in the art will appreciate that unless context requires otherwise, the embodiments described herein will function with FSIs.
